DIMENSION SYSTEMS BECOMES THE NATIONAL VALUE ADDED RESELLER OF LightsOn FOR DATA CENTERS

Providing A New Foundation For Accurate, Physical Asset Management

Woodinville, Washington – October 8, 2013, Dimension Systems, a major provider of high-end computer system integration and software application development, today announced it has become the national value added reseller of LightsOn™, the advanced RFID asset management solutions from Vizualiz. This move continues a long tradition of forming business alliances with complementary products and services from tier-one technology providers. Through these formal relationships with like-minded companies, Dimension Systems works to ensure an ever evolving, diverse stream of solutions and services that address the technical and financial needs of different industries and market segments.

Bob Cartwright, the President of Dimension Systems has seen first-hand the corporate waste and inefficiency created when incomplete solutions prohibit the proper management of technology assets. “Traditional asset management solutions have failed to live up to the needs and expectations of companies large and small. In most cases, they are labor intensive and expensive to implement, manage and maintain”, explained Cartwright.

LightsOn™ helps companies redefine how data center assets are managed by using innovative, 21st century technology. It combines the first mobile, tablet based solution for automating the inventory management and audit process with advanced 3D visual graphic techniques and RFID technology delivering rapid data capture, access and interrogation of asset information.

Accurate data about assets and their disposition is the foundational underpinning of any DCIM and Service Management application. Without a real-time account of the physical assets in the data center, these solutions cannot deliver their intended value. “Unfortunately too often we find that companies don’t know how many assets they have. We see this as a critical gap and a significant risk to any business. Using LightsOn, Dimension Systems will address these shortcomings head on. We see this as a game-changing opportunity for us to bring strategic value to our customers”, said Cartwright.

LightsOn™ is a turnkey solution delivered via SaaS or premise-based that fully integrates with existing DCIM and Service Management applications.
